

Mobilization of 100,000 Militia Is Wilson's Answer to Carranza

DAYS OF CIVIL WAR ARE RECALLED BY SCENE IN LIMA WHEN CALL COMES

Company C Is Recruiting to Full Strength Under Orders
From Adjutant-General

ARMORY HEADQUARTERS

Enlistments Wanted to Fill Quota Prescribed by Rules of Federal Military Law.

At 2:30 this afternoon First Lieut. Menant Light of Company C, read the names of 26 of the newly enlisted men that were successful in passing the medical examination. There were 30 that took the examination and only four of the applicants failed to pass the medical test.

Not since the days of the Civil war has there been so much excitement and interest shown by those interested in military affairs, as in the past 24 hours. Captain Clark Crops of Company C and officers of the Second regiment who reside in Lima were notified yesterday evening to make preparations for mobilization as all the National Guard in the United States had been ordered to the Mexican border.

Following orders from Adjutant General Hough, of Columbus, recruiting stations were opened in different parts of the city and bulletins were placed throughout the business district calling for young men desiring to enlist in the local company. That many patriotic young men heard and answered the call was shown by the number that enlisted up to 1 o'clock this afternoon. With the prospects of reaching fully 100 men before the close of the day the list at noon numbered 24.

Reports from the surrounding towns indicated that the enlistment was heavy and most of the companies of the second regiment will reach their required quotas of men, which is 150, before the close of the day. According to Corporal Frank Hume, of Company C, who is in charge of the recruiting station at the armory, young men were slow to answer the call until just toward noon, when they fairly swamped him and his assistant.

No late orders from Adjutant General Hough have been received in regard to moving to Columbus, where all regiments of state National guards will assemble has been received. Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. Gale of the second regiment stated this morning that it was hardly probable that the local company would be able to move from the city until the middle of the week. This is due to the lack of equipment and the fact that the company must be recruited to the full war strength before departing from Lima.

Adjutant General Hough today estimated that it will cost about $12,000 a day to keep the Ohio guard for the next few weeks. Beginning today the guardsmen will receive the following rates of pay: Brigadier General, $16.67 a day; Colonel, $11.11 a day; Lieutenant colonel, $9.72 a day; majors, $8.33 a day; Captains, $6.67 a day; First lieutenants, $5.56 a day; Second lieutenants, $4.72 a day.

Privates, 50c a day; Privates in hospital corps, 53c a day; First class privates in engineers or signal corps, 60c a day; Corporals of engineers or signal or hospital corps, 80c a day; Sergeants of infantry, $1 a day; Sergeants of engineers, signal or hospital corps, $1.20 a day; battalion sergeant majors of field artillery, chief trumpeters and principal musicians, $1.33 a day; Quarter-master sergeant, first class sergeants, sergeant majors of signal corps and first class musicians, $1.50 a day; First class sergeants of field musicians, $1.67 a day; First class sergeants of engineers corps, $2.17 a day; Master musicians, quarter-master of coast artillery, master signal electrician and chief musician, $2.50 a day.

It was pointed out expenses will be much heavier during the days which elapse before all the guardsmen are quartered in the mobilization camp. Men will have to be fed at government expense at restaurants until brought to Columbus where this cost will be greatly reduced as all meals will be prepared by company cooks.

From present indications it looks as if Lima will be without a city administration, as three of the city

BULGARIANS ADVANCING IN THE EAST

SITUATION ON RUSS

VERDUN BLAZES AGAIN

ATTACK AT DEAD
MAN'S HILL.

German attacks on the French positions north of Verdun have been resumed, but the crown prince's forces have been prevented from making any further advance, the Paris war office announced today. The assault of last night was on Hill 321, west of the Thiaumont farm, almost directly north of the fortress.

A further attack in force in the Dead Man Hill sector, west of the Meuse apparently is in preparation, judging from the intensity of the German bombardment and its prolongation.

Correspondents on the eastern front point to the fighting along the Stry and Stokhod, near Kolki, as crucial in its nature. The Germans are assisting the Austrians there in an attempt to check the determined drive of the Russians for the railway junction of Kovel, a vital point in the Teutonic defensive system in that region.

BULGARS BEGIN ADVANCE.
Austrians Await Further Attacks From Russian Forces.

PARIS, June 19.—The Havas correspondent at Saloniki telegraphs that news has just been received there that Bulgarian troops in the region of Florina and Monastir have begun an advance.

A German infantry attack on the French position north of Hill 321 was repulsed by the French batteries yesterday according to an official statement issued by the war office today. The Germans are continuing their bombardment at Dead Man Hill and in the Chattanooga region.

LONDON, June 19.—Heavy fighting between the Russians advancing toward Kovel and the Germans under General Von Linsingen is reported by the Berlin Tageblatt's correspondent at Austrian headquarters, according to an Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. The Russians are in superior numbers and the despatch asserts that the Tageblatt account of the fighting is worded so as to prepare Berlin for the news of another Teutonic retreat. The Tageblatt says that the Austrians have taken up fresh positions between Czernowitz and the Dniester where they are awaiting further Russian attacks.

BERLIN, June 19.—(via London)—Heavy fighting is in progress between the Russians pushing toward Kovel and the Teutonic forces opposing them in the Stokhod-Stry sector, the war office announced today. The Russian attacks, says the statement has been partly repulsed by means of successful counter attacks.

$24,237 PAID IN BY PENNSY R. R.

The Pennsylvania railroad is one of the heavy tax-payers of the country which has taken advantage of early paying and has deposited their half of the year's tax with County Treasurer W. E. Tussing. The amount paid by the Pennsylvania railroad company for the last six months amounts to $24,237.37. Treasurer Tussing has impressed the matter of early payment of taxes fully upon the minds, not only of corporations, but of individual tax-payers. Not a dollar from any one will be taken at the treasurer's office after July 20 for June taxes.

O. N. G. Mobilization At Columbus Camp, Ordered By Adj. Gen.

COLUMBUS, O., June 19.—Mobilization orders were sent out today by Adjutant General Benson W. Hough of the Ohio National Guard in accordance with orders received from the war department following President Wilson's call upon the militiamen of every state for service along the Mexican border.

The call of the war department for the different arms of the Ohio National Guard was as follows:
The brigades of three infantry regiments each, one squadron of cavalry, one battalion of field artillery, one battalion of signal corps, one battalion of engineers, three field hospital corps and two ambulance companies.
The first brigade is composed of the Second, Sixth and Third regiments commanded by Brigadier General William V. McMaken with headquarters at Toledo.
The second regiment commanded by Colonel Guy Deming with headquarters at Ada, is composed of twelve companies located as follows:

G. H. and K. Dayton, A. Covington, B. Springfield, C. Piqua, D. Urbana, E. Hamilton, F. Eaton, I. Xenia, L. Sidney, and M. Greenville.

Preparing Camp.
Because the Ohio guardsmen may see extended service away from home, it is the present intention to give them several days in which to get to Columbus. The first outfit of troops are not expected to reach camp here until Wednesday or Thursday.
Work of constructing the mobilization camp at Upper Arlington, a residential suburb northwest of Columbus, was begun early this morning. Laborers are being employed in making camp ready, until enlisted men arrive. The adjutant general's office wishes to have the camp, which covers nearly 1000 acres, completed when the first outside troops arrive.
Following is the partial text of Governor Willis' order formally calling out the Ohio militia:
"In accordance with the commands of the president of the United States, dated the 18th day of June, 1916, calling forth, under the constitution and laws of the United States, certain organizations of the organized militia of the state, to be employed in the service of the United States the members of the organizations hereinafter named will assemble at their respective home stations on June 19, 1916, (orders for movements to state mobilization camp will follow). Assembly will be in the equipment prescribed for field duty, preparatory to their muster into the service of the United States at a later date. Officers and enlisted men will habitually wear uniform. The following are the organizations placed in the service of the state:
"First infantry brigade, consisting of the Second, Third and Sixth regiments, Second infantry brigade, consisting of the Fourth, Fifth and Eighth regiments, First squadron of cavalry; First battalion of field artillery; First battalion of engineers; field battalion signal corps; First, Second and Third hospitals; First and Second ambulance companies.
"Regimental or other separate organization commanders are charged with subsisting the enlisted men of the National Guard reporting at their respective home stations, and for this purpose they will be limited to an allowance of 75 cents per day for each enlisted man actually present for duty as shown by the morning report. They are also charged with providing the necessary fuel."

LANSING TELLS MEXICAN AMBASSADOR HE IS TOO BUSY TO SEE HIM TODAY

Reply of the United States Rejects
Demand for Recall of Troops
From Mexico

AMERICA RISES ENMASSE

Pacific Fleet Ordered to Sail Southward—
Pershing Ready For Dash
For Border.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—While the whole country was astir today with the mobilization of the national guard for border duty, President Wilson directed that his reply rejecting General Carranza's demand for the recall of American troops from Mexico go forward immediately.

In refusing to withdraw the troops the United States reaffirms the friendly intentions of the United States toward the de facto government in Mexico and sharply rebukes General Carranza for unwarranted charges and insinuations of bad faith contained in his communication.

Communications from the Mexican embassy announcing that there had been a clash between a boat crew from the gunboat Annapolis and Carranza soldiers at Mazatlan yesterday and asking that in the present tense situation no men be landed in Mexico from American warships under any circumstances, were delivered to the state department today by an embassy secretary.

The secretary sought an engagement with Secretary Lansing for the ambassador designate, Eliseo Arredondo but was informed that Mr. Lansing was very busy and would be making no appointments for the day.

Secretary Lansing announced that the reply to Carranza could go forward to Mexico City during the day. The secretary also declared the American policy would remain unchanged.

A resolution making immediately effective the militia draft provision of the new army organization bill under which guardsmen consenting to take the federal oath would be available for service anywhere immediately, has been prepared by the war department officials and Chairman Hay of the house military committee may be presented to congress today.

STATES RESPOND AT ONCE.

Troops Are Being Mobilized to Await Federal Orders.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Responses from governors of the states to President Wilson's call on the National Guard for service along the Mexican border reached the war department today in rapid succession. By the time Secretary Baker was at his desk, seventeen states had been heard from announcing that mobilization was in progress.

The messages were substantially identical and followed this general form:

"Telegram received and mobilization in progress as directed."

None contained any estimate of the time required to get the troops under arms. Secretary Baker reiterated the statement that none of the guardsmen affected by the new order would be sent to the border until General Funston decided where and when he wanted them. The men will be held at state mobilization points until mustered into the federal service.

If the entire force is not immediately desired for border service the units not sent south probably will be granted furlough until such time as they may be required to leave the regiments sent immediately or to reinforce the border line in the event of open hostilities with minimum strength of which will be upward of 100,000 men will be held under arms for two weeks or a month while processes of muster into the federal service and of equipment are being worked out. The first seventeen states heard from today were Ohio, Georgia, Maine, Indiana, Montana, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, North Dakota, Oregon, Virginia, Washington, Mississippi, Vermont, Tennessee, Missouri and New York.

Not since the Spanish war has the nation seen such military activity as today. More than 100,000 national guardsmen in 45 states were under orders to mobilize for Mexican service. They constitute virtually the entire militia strength of the United States. President Wilson through

PERSHING READY FOR DASH.

Will Seize Mexican Northwestern Railway on Short Notice.

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 19.—Notwithstanding the threat of General Trevino, the Mexican commander to attack him if he moves in any direction except toward the border, General Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary force in Mexico is said to be quietly laying plans for quick dashes north and south at the first sign of hostilities. His plans, it is believed by observers, are to gain possession of the Mexico Northwestern railroad, which practically commands the territory adjacent to his line of communication.

General Pershing's men slept on their arms last night.

The American commander is in receipt daily of information regarding de facto Mexican government troop movements. Natives treated kindly by the Americans have voluntarily supplied valuable information.

PACIFIC FLEET TO SAIL.

Will Join Ships Already on West Coast of Mexico.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 19.—Admiral Winslow, commanding the Pacific fleet, was in receipt of orders today to select available vessels and dispatch them to join other warships now stationed at ports on the west Mexican coast. The cruisers Denver and Chattanooga, at San Diego, were instructed to take on coal, and the cruisers Pittsburgh and Colorado also at San Diego are to coal later. It was expected that the cruiser San Diego, the admiral's flagship, would sail for San Diego at once.

The disposition of other ships of the Pacific division is as follows: Gunboat Annapolis and supply ship Glacier at Mazatlan; cruiser Cleveland and naval transport Bufalo at Guaymas; cruiser Raleigh at Corinto, Nicaragua; gunboat Yorktown at Topolobampo; cruiser Albany at Manzanillo; cruiser Charleston on route from Mare Island, California, to Balboa. The protected cruiser Milwaukee and the destroyers Hull, Hopkins and Truxtun are in San Diego harbor.

Two more cruisers, the South Dakota and Maryland are under orders to steam from the Bremerton, Washington navy yard to San Diego.

The only Mexican warship on the west coast is the ancient gunboat Guerrero.

BORDER GUARD ON ALERT.

General Bell Has 5,000 Soldiers on Station at El Paso.

EL PASO, Texas, June 19.—Development in the Mexican situation, crowding one on the heels of the other in the last 26 hours, caused excitement today paralleling that following the crossing of the frontier by the American expeditionary command at Columbus, N. M., more than three months ago.

American military authorities admitted that every preparation had been made for eventualities, but asserted that no trouble is anticipated in this immediate locality.

General George Bell, Jr., commanding the El Paso military district, seemed confident today that with the 5,000 troops on station here he is prepared to cope with any emergency. Some consideration, however, was given a rumor that a body of Carranza soldiers, estimated at 5,000, is encamped about 20 miles south of Juarez, prepared if necessary, to reinforce the garrison of 4,000 and that 3,000 Carranza troops left Villa Ahumada, 83 miles south, yesterday for El Valle, southeast of Durango, one of General Pershing's field bases. This report, however, could not be confirmed and was not generally believed.

Reports also were current that General Jacinto Trevino, Carranza commander of the army of the north, is arming all male citizens above the age of 15, following his recruiting campaign for which orders were recently issued by the Mexican minister of war.

News that the fourth expedition had been withdrawn from Mexico, after a brief campaign, and Secretary Baker's statement that the new draft of national guardsmen are for border duty only as needed and not for increasing General Pershing's command had a quieting effect in Juarez as it filtered through to the masses of the people.

The First Wants In.

CINCINNATI, O., June 19.—Lieutenant Colonel William Cooper Proctor of the first regiment, Ohio National Guard, left for Columbus this morning with the purpose in view of including the officials there to include the first regiment in the initial gathering of troops of the Ohio National Guard. Lieutenant Colonel Proctor stated today that he was confident that the first would be recruited to war strength before many hours had passed.

Lieutenant Colonel Proctor also stated that he was now ready to accept full command of the first. This had been tendered him on a previous occasion but at that time he decided to retain the rank of lieutenant colonel.

THE IDLER

Joe Swirlas, arrested yesterday on a charge of assault by Patrolmen Crisberry and Conaghan, received a hearing in criminal court this morning and was fined $1 and costs. He was arrested on complaint of Charles Mackus.

Lottie Cramer has been appointed by the house committee of the country club as steward. Interest in the shawnee club has never been more acute than this season.

J. Warren Kilgore, attorney, is in the city hospital, suffering from blood poisoning. Mr. Kilgore recently was subjected to an operation for the removal of a couple of toes.

Roy L. Collins, of 764 West Hill street, while endeavoring to repair a porch swing at his home, yesterday morning, fell from the porch and had three ribs broken. He is resting easier today.

E. M. Gordon, manager for Swift & Company, and Nick Cantelny, of Hoeguer & Cantelny, start today for a fishing trip to northern Michigan. Here's hoping the "Sunfish" are biting.

SUIT TO FORECLOSE.

J. H. Herring is plaintiff in a suit filed in court today, named E. W. and Bessie L. Gooderding, N. J. Spear, William Dickey, J. A. Blair, H. R. Blair, The Jones Hardware company and S. S. Coon and company, defendants. Herring says that in 1915 J. A. Blair entered into a contract with E. W. and Bessie L. Gooderding to erect for them a dwelling house in Perry township. In January, 1916, Herring, by contract, secured the services of Blair as carpenter on this house, amounting to $12.60. He holds a mechanic's lien on the property.

Herring states the Gooderdings were notified of the amount due but did not provide for same. He asks an order from the court, ordering the premises sold to pay his claim of $12.60, with interest.

The other defendants hold some claim to the property and the action therefore includes them.

There isn't a merchant in this city that will not do the right thing by the public. The people should help by keeping their money in Lima. If a want ad in the Times-Democrat will bring quick results.

FEDERAL MAPS GREAT AID TO ALL MOTORISTS

Half of the Surface of the United States Has Been Plotted.

USEFUL TO MILITARY

Aeronauts Find Charts of Great Value While on Wing.

(By Frederic J. Haskin.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—The summer vacation season is on. Motorists are planning pleasure trips across country; tourists, unwelcome in Europe, are contemplating journeys through the national parks, and campers are diligently searching pamphlets and advertisements in an effort to find the ideal camping site with plenty of fish. In these preliminary investigations the topographic maps of the geological survey are of great assistance. Over 40 per cent of the area of the United States has been sketched by the government topographic engineers, including roads, houses, streamlets, mosquito districts, valleys, rivers and mountains. A glance at the selected camp site on a topographic map immediately tells the prospective vacationist the most intimate details of its physiography often carefully ignored by the railroad pamphlet.

It is the purpose of the geological survey gradually to map the entire continental United States, as well as Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines—work which, when completed and the sections joined together, will cover over an acre of ground. Each section is sketched on a sheet about 18 inches square, the preparation of which costs the government from three to five thousand dollars. On the back of it is printed a complete description of the physical features of the district, which has made the maps extremely popular. One man who toured the Crater Lake National park, the Grand Canyon and the Delaware Water Gap with the aid of the survey maps, said that he did not see how he had ever got along without them.

But their value to the vacationist is small compared to their economic and military values. In modern war the topography of the country is an important factor, and the nation which has the best detailed maps has a distinct advantage. It is the topographic map which is marked by the aeronaut as he flies over the enemy on scouting duty; it is the topographic map which aids in directing the firing, since the marksman cannot see the target, and it is this map, in fact, which constitutes the chess board on which the military authorities play the war game. It has been said that many battles of the Civil War would have been left untouched if there had been an adequate topographic map available at that time. As it was, the need was so apparent that congress authorized the first corps of topographic engineers in 1861.

One author points out that the facility with which the Japanese took Port Arthur in the Russo-Japanese war was due to the fact that for months before, Japanese spies disguised as coolies had been quietly mapping the topography of the country. When the night of attack came it was an easy matter for the Japanese to disable the giant Russian searchlights illuminating the port, their guns directed at the hill marked on the map as the position of the apparatus thus throwing the Russian forces into confusion.

The increasing use of the topographic map in this country as prepared by the geological survey has made the land swindle an almost extinct practice. It is impossible, for example, to sell a man a certain grove of oranges in Florida when he has a topographic map before him, showing that the alleged grove is covered with several feet of swamp and water. Neither is it easy to convince a man that a piece of land in the southwest contains a vein of silver if the topographic map fails to show the presence of ore-bearing rocks. So infallible are the maps that life insurance companies now lend money on farm lands upon their recommendation. The vice president of an insurance company in his New York office can determine the approximate value of a given farm in the state of Washington by looking it up on the survey map of that section.

The maps are even more valuable to the home-maker, and should be consulted by every person when moving into a new country. Certain physical characteristics of the earth's surface bring about conditions which are detrimental to health, and these conditions are duly noted on the topographic map.

For several years it was a well-known fact among life insurance companies that many of the so-called "cup towns" throughout the country—towns completely surrounded by hills—were unusually productive of cancer. The fact was so noticeable that finally an investigation was arranged and the phenomenon explained. It had occurred to someone to compare the conditions of the "cup towns" with those encountered by the chimney sweeps of London, among whom there is an enormous amount of cancer, due to their contact with smoke and soot. It was found that the chimneys of the houses of the "cup towns" were fitted with a device that swung with the wind and opened at right angles to the chimney, and that these devices collected an immense amount of soot.

In the large cattle grazing areas of the west, the survey's maps have proved the means of settling many boundary disputes. The land, which is usually unfenced, may be owned by an individual or by the government. In the case of government ownership the range is described in the grazing permit, but with private ownership it depends mostly upon the word of the owner, unless he produces his deed, and there are frequently many wrangles and disputes in finding the section corners. The topographic map has gone far towards eliminating these difficulties.

The irrigation projects of the west are also indebted to the topographic map for their existence. The engineer plans his work, the expense of construction and the time required to complete it, with the aid of the map. Afterwards he may explore the country himself for greater evidence of its practicability, but the first estimate is usually based upon the topographic sheet.

When the giant map of the entire country is completed it will be a big step in the preparation program. With all the physical features of the country within their knowledge, the military engineers can plan the mobilization and stationing of troops without sending scouts ahead to determine the lay of the country. Unusually before a detachment takes up its headquarters at a given point, the sanitary engineer goes ahead to insure proper health conditions; now the sanitary engineer can economize on travel and get his information from the topographic corps of the geological survey.

So it is with the vacationist. By consulting the government maps he may ascertain all the characteristics of a summer resort, forest reserve or automobile route. In motoring to Gettysburg not long ago, a party of tourists visiting the battle field took the wrong road which led over the top of a small mountain, being, in fact, the one by which General Lee retreated out of Gettysburg. It has been used very little since then, and the party had a good deal of difficulty in getting home. With a topographic map in the chauffeur's pocket the selection of the wrong road would have been impossible.

ROTARY NOMINATES NEW OFFICERS TODAY

Nominations of officers for the ensuing year was the principal feature of the noon-day luncheon of the Rotary club today. The nominating committee reported the nomination of Henry G. Wemmer to succeed himself as president of the organization, which met with hearty applause from the members. Other officers nominated were, first vice president, J. D. Cable, second vice president, E. R. Curtin, secretary, L. S. Galvin, sergeant at arms, James Mooney; trustees, W. N. Moore, John Harley, Nelson Shook, F. C. Becker and J. L. Rickoff.

Some of the younger members of the club proposed the formation of a rotary "gridiron" club, which was given the unanimous endorsement of the rotarians. Members of rotary desiring to join the "Gridiron" will notify Ralph C. Gensel, secretary.

New members present today were, Robert E. Horn and Tom Schoonover, and guests were, Ralph MacKenzie, C. D. Dunn, Chicago, S. A. Angle, Shippensburg, Pa.

STAYS ON APPEALS REACH.

COLUMBUS, O., June 19.—In response to a resolution of the lawyers of Dayton, Appellate Judge James I. Allread has decided to remain on the court of appeals bench and has withdrawn as a candidate for the republican nomination of supreme court justice.

THE ROLL CALL OF OUR FRIENDS

Have you ever sat alone in the evening looking over the pictures and the books associated with the friends of yore? In the busy whirl of life there is not a joy in calling the roll of old friends and wondering where this one and that one may be? Then comes that moment of retrospective and introspective eulogy to absent friends, and wells of gratitude are opened as we think how greatly various friends have influenced our pathway on life's journey; how this one or that one may have unconsciously determined the crisis of a career.

We become mellowed when we think of those passed beyond; the memory of them comes to us gently and softly as the sparkle of the eye and the outline of the individuality are recalled from the haze of past years—"Publisher's Department," National Magazine for June.

TO REMOVE WATER SPOTS.

Take a piece of the same material as that spotted and dampen it in lukewarm water. Place on water spots on right side and press with a moderately warm iron. Press until both pressing cloth and material are dry. The spots will have disappeared.—"Home Department," National Magazine for June.

HELP FOR AUTOISTS.

Autoists who dread mudholes, unforeseen swamps and the like will give thanks to Alexander Gagnon, of Biddeford, Maine, who has devised a means to extricate them from their trouble. His automobile extricating device consists of a belt of chain wide enough to permit an auto wheel to pass along it, which is securely fastened to a stake or tree at one end and to the auto rim and tire at the other. No matter which way the car is forced, it'll follow the chain toward land and safety.—"Wonders of Today," National Magazine for June.

WAR WILL VACATE SOME CITY OFFICES

At a late hour this afternoon, three members of Company C and an officer of the second regiment all of whom are city officials, stated that they would mobilize with the rest of the national guard at Columbus. They are: City Solicitor Melvin C. Light, Safety Director A. E. Gale, Criminal Court Judge Emmett Jackson, and City Chemist J. Purcell VanWert.

Mayor Simpson will appoint the successors to the positions vacated by the first three named members of the city administration. However, all will ask for temporary leave of absence and the successors will only be temporary fixtures in the position. During the absence of Jackson, Mayor Simpson will probably act as criminal judge. The board of health will appoint a man to take the place of the city chemist during his absence.

INFANT BOY DIES.

George Cornelia, five-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Achin Cornelia, died Sunday, at the home of the parents at 149 Lafayette street. The small body will repose at Gethsemani.

Secretary Baker issued the orders yesterday when it became apparent that the threatening conditions in northern Mexico were not improving. The embassy communications brought the Washington government its first news of trouble at Mazatlan, latest radio advice from Admiral Winslow on the Pacific coast making no mention of it.

According to the Mexican version confusion followed an attempt to land marines from a warship, there was an exchange of shots and two American officers were arrested and held until explanations had been made. The embassy presented a report from the military commander at Mazatlan, General Mesto, telling of the incident accompanied by instructions from the Mexico City foreign office urging that the Americans be kept aboard their ships.

General Mesto's report said the men landed at Mazatlan were marines but as the gunboat Annapolis, the only ship known to be there has no marines aboard, it is presumed that bluejackets were involved. The Mesto report told this story.

"A boat from the warship approached a Mazatlan wharf and was warned to keep off, until permission to land could be obtained from the military authorities. It went back to the ship and several hours later returned with its crew armed. The officer in command was told permission for landing had not been given and an argument ensued. A crowd of soldiers and civilians had gathered on the wharf and in the midst of the discussion a drunken Japanese fired a shot at the Americans who promptly replied with a volley into the crowd. Carranza soldiers returned the fire and the boat withdrew, leaving behind two officers who were arrested. Explanations then were exchanged by the commander of the warship and the Carranza general and the American officers were released. The report makes no mention of American casualties but says two Mexican soldiers and one civilian were wounded.

Secretary Lansing announced that the Mexican note would be dispatched during the day, but would not discuss its terms or say how it would be transmitted. It had been planned to send it by special messenger to the Mexican capital, following the precedent set by General Carranza in transmitting his own demands. Recent developments along the border and General Trevino's warning to General Pershing, however, caused the wisdom of this plan to be doubted, and there were indications today that the reply would go by telegraph to Special Agent Rodgers in Mexico City for delivery to General Carranza. Mr. Lansing intimated that its text might be made public here tonight.

While these diplomatic steps were in process, a force of national guardsmen which will not be less than 100,000 strong, and may exceed that number by many thousands, was being mustered into the service of the United States. Governors of all states had replied before noon today to instructions sent last night that their allotment of troops be immediately called out. In each instance Secretary Baker was informed that the orders had been given and the men were arming and proceeding to their state mobilization points.

From both coasts, also, additional naval vessels were under orders to proceed to Mexican waters for the relief of Americans who may gather from the interior. Light craft and transports are only engaged in this service.

WORDS OF PRIDE FOR CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

"Last winter I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. John Miller, Rosedale, Ind. "It cured me of a severe cold on the lungs and an aggravating cough. I have recommended this remedy to a great many people who have used it and have nothing but words of praise for it. Obtainable everywhere."

Officials are members of Company C and one is an officer of the Second regiment. They are as follows: Emmett J. Jackson, first sergeant, judge of criminal court; Melvin C. Light, first lieutenant, city solicitor; J. Purcell, Van Wert, city chemist, private, and Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. Gale of the Second regiment, safety director. Practically all the above members have signified their intention of going to the border.

Before the opening of the recruiting office this morning, the number of men enlisted in Company C totaled 87 and three officers. With the additional 24 that signed papers qualifying themselves as members of the company the total was swelled to 111 men and the same number of officers. The following are officers of the company: Clark Cress, captain; Melvin C. Light, first lieutenant, and William Daley, second lieutenant.

The old members of the company are: W. C. Munk, first sergeant; W. Mackin, quartermaster sergeant; E. J. Jackson, sergeant; Clyde Custer, sergeant; Lewis E. Thomas, sergeant; O. Although nothing definite is regarding the movement of the companies of the second regiment has been received by the officers located in Lima, most of them are of the opinion that a large number of the companies will be requested to mobilize in Lima before departing to the headquarters at Columbus.

The following are officers of the second regiment: Colonel J. Guy Deming, Ada; Lieutenant A. E. Gale, Lima; Major John Harley, Lima; Major Cliff Deming, Ada; Adjutant Charles A. Heater, Bowling Green; Quartermaster Robert McPeak, Lima; Commissary David Jenkins, Jr., Ottawa; Dale Rothrock, adjutant of the first battalion; Clarence Rissner, of Findlay, adjutant of the second battalion; W. Earl Ulrich, adjutant of the third battalion; Commissary and Quartermaster Arnold, Spencerville, of the first battalion; Commissary and Quartermaster Elito, Ada, of the second battalion; Commissary and Quartermaster William B. Wilcox, Lima, of the third battalion, and inspector of small arm practice, George Eckert, Lima.

At the temporary headquarters of Company C in the Hawisher block on North Elizabeth street, considerable activity was displayed during the morning by members of the company and the arrival of newly acquired recruits. Although there is a small surplus supply of equipment for the new members, additional equipment for the company has been requested of the head of the department at Columbus. It is expected that the first shipment of the paraphernalia will be received tomorrow and all new members will be fitted out with little trouble.

As officers of the local company are fully aware that the first order is only a warning to prepare for actual movement, all preparations possible are being made to get everything in readiness for the next order which will require the company to depart upon short notice to the state capital.

CONCENTRATED TOLLO WATER BETTER THAN CALOMEL

A Wineglassful of This Water Starts the Liver in Half an Hour. Does Not Weaken Nor Nauseate.

Calomel, which is a form of mercury, irritates and weakens the system. Tollo Water flushes the liver in nature's way, dissolving the thickened bile that is choking the tiny drains that carry the bile from the liver, and washing them clean. About a third of a tumbler full in a glass of pl. in water on an empty stomach—preferably before breakfast—will start the liver. In half an hour it will wash the waste from the system and start you feeling good.

But to get rid of constipation and remove the bile that has been absorbed into the system, causing headache, sallow skin, sou., gassy stomach and a tired, run-down feeling that makes you drag around unfit to perform your daily duties, you should continue to take Tollo Water every morning for several days. After that an occasional wineglassful before breakfast will keep the liver active and the bowels regular. It will bring back your natural, healthy color and make you strong and well.

Dawson Springs, the home of Tollo Water, has been a famous health resort for years. It was through the desire of those who have visited the springs and regained their health that Tollo Water has been concentrated and put on sale at drug stores. A 15-cent bottle is enough for several days.

STRICKEN BY LIGHTNING.
Joseph W. Hale of 142 East Murphy street, was recovering today from the effects of a bolt of lightning, which stunned him, during the heavy electrical storm late Saturday afternoon. With others, had sought refuge under the grand stand at Murphy street ball park. The thunder pealed and lightning played pranks all over the city. The rain fell in torrents. The value of the storm was only local. A few miles north of Lima, only a few drops of rain fell.

A pageant of nations, mounted by business girls, will be one of the big events which will mark the summer festival, to be held for the benefit of the Business Woman's club next Monday evening. A flower parade will be an interesting feature, the first ever given in Lima.

All vehicles to be entered will be decorated with flowers, whether real or artificial. The parade will move from South Main street to the festival on North Main street. An animal show will be here for the festival.

Entrance is open to any business firm or individual. All that is necessary is a flower-decked automobile or float or wagon. The parade is expected to be a mile or more in length.

Forty-eight girls, wearing a flower for each state in the union, will be in line. The gymnasium girls will wear white and green, their colors. The funds go towards the new gymnasium of the club. A prize of $10 will be given for the best decorated business float in the parade; a prize of $5 for the best decorated private automobile, a prize of $2 for the best decorated pony cart and a prize of $1 for the best decorated bicycle or motorcycle.

OHIO G. O. P. WILL HOLDS STATE MEET

W. L. Parmenter, of Lima, to Call Convention to Order.

COLUMBUS, June 19.—Programs for the republican state convention, to be held at Memorial hall, Wednesday, June 21, are completed. The front page bears the likeness of Charles Justice Hughes and Charles Warren Fairbanks, the republican national standard bearers, and that of Governor F. B. Willis.

Chairman William L. Parmenter of the state central committee will call the convention to order at 3 p. m., Wednesday. He will relinquish the gavel to Ralph D. Cole, who is to act as temporary chairman and will deliver the keynote address. General J. Warren Kelfer was originally slated to grace the permanent chairmanship, but since his recent announcement of opposition to Congressmen Simeon Fess, which is a counter move to the plans of the administration, the committee on arrangements has seen it to eliminate the old general. It is not improbable that United States Senator Harding may be asked to act as permanent chairman.

John P. Maynard, clerk of the house of representatives during the eighty-first general assembly, will be temporary secretary and, with the remainder of the temporary organization will probably be made permanent. The other members of the organization are: Elmer S. Landes, George Deckbach, Charles F. Wetzel, Warren E. Barnett and Fred Patterson, assistant secretaries; O. C. Gray, sergeant-at-arms; C. C. Varner, Edward T. Banks, Topsy Troupe and Alfred Robinson, assistant sergeant-at-arms; William Bosson, chief doorkeeper; I. A. Gorrell, chief usher, R. M. King, official stenographer.

RUM SCORES AGAIN.

On the grounds of habitual drunk-

ness for over three years, Ida Belle Myers was granted a divorce from her husband, John T. Myers, in a special session of court, held on Saturday afternoon. She will pay the court costs. Myers was enjoined from visiting or addressing his wife or in any way annoying her or from visiting her home.

HENRY DILLER DIES, RESULTS OF STROKE

Henry B. Diller, 50 years old, well-known Sugar Creek township farmer, died at his home seven miles northwest of Lima Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock. For four years he has not been well, but his present illness was of short duration. Death was due to paralysis.

He was born April 31, 1866, in Allen county, and had lived in the northwest part thereof practically his entire life. The wife, two sons, H. Stemen Diller and Vernon Diller, and three daughters, Mrs. Emory Lehman, Lois and Grace at home, are left. Five brothers and a sister also survive.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Salem church. The Rev. Noah Blosser will officiate. Interment will be at Salem cemetery.

E. R. GALLAGHER STRICKEN.

E. R. Gallagher, of the Wigwag cigar store, West High street, was stricken this morning with an attack while at his home in the Kalb apartments, High and West streets. Mr. Gallagher's condition is said to be serious.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Marriage licenses were issued today, to the following:

Guillermo P. Clutter, 21, drug clerk, of Ada, and Tressie A. Fisher, 26, dressmaker, of 129 South Scott street. The Rev. M. C. Howey to officiate.

John M. Early, 26, farmer, and Goldie M. Kilgore, 27, both of R. F. D. No. 3, Lima. Dr. M. B. Fuller to officiate.

A license was issued late Saturday afternoon to Dallas Long, 19, machinist, and Merle R. Wolfe, 18, cigarmaker, both of 189 East Crenelar street. The Rev. Cecil Franklin to officiate.

READING OF BOOKS.

How are the young folk of today to acquire the reading habit? They all go to school and they are taught much more about literature than it was the custom to teach the boys and girls of earlier generations. Yet somehow it does not appear that when they leave school they read the books written by the authors with whose names they become familiar as the great ones of the literary world. It does not appear, in fact, that many of them read books of any kind unless it is the sensational and trivial novels of the day, and even these they have little leisure for.

So many other matters take their attention. The automobile is one hindrance to the formation of the reading habit. The freedom it gives is more fascinating to the average young person than any book of fiction, to say nothing of anything more serious. It invites and knows no refusal. "Movies" attract a multitude to whom motor cars are not available. And there are dances and theaters and the general business of having a "good time" through some form of activity. For in these days youth demands a good time as an inalienable right.—Indianapolis Star.

INCOMPATIBILITY CASE.

Incompatibility might be ascribed to the matrimonial voyage of Alta M. Garau and Calvin Garau, if the testimony introduced in court today, telling of their bickerings, is a criterion by which to judge. Neighbors and friends of the couple, both in Jackson township and at Bluffton, where they lived, filled the court room to listen to the rehearsal of their troubles.

As late as Saturday, Calvin Garau came into court, denying all the charges made by his wife, in a cross-petition and answer to the case, filed some months ago. Both want the care and custody of the children.

bedding and forage, and for the shoeing of the authorized horses pertaining to their respective organizations. The expenses for such purposes shall not exceed the allowance authorized by army regulations. Purchases will be made covering periods of five days at a time.

Rigid Examination. "While troops remain at their home stations and where adequate armory facilities do not exist for sleeping, organization commanders are authorized to permit such enlisted men of their respective commands as they designate to sleep at home.

"Before troops are sent to mobilization camp they should be carefully examined to detect the presence of infectious or contagious disease, especially typhoid fever, measles and mumps. If an officer of the medical corps, O. N. G., cannot make this inspection, it should be made by the local health officer or physician. No infected soldier will be brought to the mobilization camp.

The drill and instruction of all organizations will be commenced at once. The drills will follow the schedule shown in memorandum No. 1, these headquarters, September 8, 1915, covering the seventeen drills as rapidly as possible, and separating the recruits when necessary. At least five hours daily will be spent at drill.

"Commanding officers of organizations will cause them to be recruited to the maximum strength prescribed by section 2, tables of organization, U. S. army as follows: "Company of infantry 141; regiment of infantry 1,836 and 24 sanitary detachment; troop of cavalry 100; squadron of cavalry 401; battery light artillery 171; battalion of field artillery 532; company of engineers (light) 104; company of engineers (heavy) 164; battalion of engineers 494; company signal corps 74; field battalion signal corps 163; ambulance company 78; field hospital company 57.

The above strength includes only the enlisted men.

"No recruit will be accepted until he has been given a thorough physical examination by a medical officer and has been found to conform to the physical standard prescribed for the regular army.

"In case any regiment, battalion or squadron, now recognized as such, contains an insufficient number of recognized organizations to enable it to conform at muster to regular army organizations tables, the organizations necessary to complete such units may be moved to mobilization camp and there inspected, under orders of the department commander, to determine fitness for recognition."

WILD ANIMALS IN KOREA ARE MENACE

Wolves Attack Persons in Homes as Well as Domestic Pets.

SEOUL, Korea, June 19.—Accustomed as Koreans are to the attacks of wild animals in the mountains, they have been astonished to learn that during the last year 120 people were killed by beasts and that over 3000 domestic animals were either killed or injured. This havoc was wrought by tigers, leopards, bears and Korean wolves, but it was the wolf, according to official statistics, that did the greatest amount of harm. It is estimated that these ferocious creatures slew 113 persons and injured 50 besides killing or injuring 517 cattle and 1519 other domestic animals.

The Korean wolf which is locally known as the neuktail is a powerful animal of the canine species, a little larger but longer and thinner than the native Korean dog. In color it is brown and gray. It possesses piercing eyes and in face of danger or while capturing prey shows wonderful agility, hiding itself in the underbrush, jumping over high cliffs or swiftly swimming across rivers and lakes. In attacking a pony or cow it will leap upon the victim's flank and kill instantly by tearing open some vital part. In attacking a man it will follow him for a time and occasionally leap over his head seeking to unnerve him and cause him to fall to the ground when it will immediately attack and kill. Oftentimes it will summon its mates to assist in attacking. There are instances of where a wolf has carried off a big boy for a considerable distance or where it has jumped over a high wall with a pig in its mouth.

The Korean authorities are exerting every effort to exterminate the animal and rewards are offered for each wolf that is killed.

CLARK'S TRIBUTE TO MANN.

Speaker Clark commented on the work done by republican minority leader James R. Mann of Illinois, paying him a high tribute. Said the speaker: "Mann is the greatest worker I ever knew. He is familiar with every detail of every bill before the House, he knows its exact status and is alert and watchful every minute. When I was minority leader I turned over much of the detail work to ranking members of the committees both to save handling so much detail myself and also to fit them for chairmanships when the democratic party should come into power. But Mann personally attends to all that detail work and it is astonishing to see what he can accomplish without wearing himself out."—Seeing Congress Through the Speakers' Eyeballs. Mrs. George F. Richards, in National Magazine for May.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

The Western Ohio Railway will on June 15th, 1916, make change in the time of the Lima-Cleveland Limited which has been leaving Lima at 2:15 P. M. and arriving at Cleveland at 7:55 P. M.

The car will then leave Lima at 1:20 P. M. and will make the run to Cleveland in five hours, arriving there at 6:20 P. M. which will now assure connection with the Cleveland and Buffalo Boat Line for Buffalo which leaves Cleveland at 8:00 P. M. each night.

This change shortens the running time 35 minutes and is the only through route to Cleveland from Lima without change of cars.

The morning car to Cleveland will run on the same schedule leaving Lima at 6:00 A. M. and arriving at Cleveland at 11:50 A. M.

Remember the change of time leaving at 1:20 P. M. instead of 2:15 P. M. is not so much a question of dollars as it is of sense.

Sense enough, for instance, to insist on comfortable shoes, knowing that little pleasure can be had on any occasion if one's feet are in misery.

Insisting on comfort is only another form of insisting on Ralstons. They have a style that fits every foot, it's merely a question of letting us show you.

DUTY OF THE HOUR

"Beware of entrance to a quarrel, but, being in, bear it that thy opponent may beware of thee," wrote the immortal Shakespeare. In modern parlance it means, don't fight unless you have to, but if you do, give the other fellow a trouncing. The Wilson administration has been criticized by jingoes for alleged lack of national pride. Some of them are now declaring that the United States should have "cleaned up" on Mexico two years ago. If the president had rushed this country into war two years ago these same objectors would now be shouting the loudest against his rashness. Unmoved by the cries of the unthinking the administration has, with sublime tact and patience, gone steadily forward. Its policy made it imperative that there should be no appearance of aggression on the part of America.

At this hour with armed troops entraining for the border, after months of special training in armories and camps, the government has, or should have, a united people behind it. War is a terrible thing. The wives and mothers of the nation have been praying for Woodrow Wilson, because their husbands and sons were not on battlefields or in trenches. The crucial test has come. The country is in peril, every honorable method of avoiding a struggle has been exhausted and the duty of every good citizen is plain. Let there be no faltering.

CHANCE FOR MILITIA

The order of President Wilson calling out the militia of each state in the union for service on the Mexican border is not only timely in case there is a necessity of additional forces to protect the states bordering on the troublesome country but most important of all, it will give our citizens and the head of the war department a clear view of the strength and training of the national guard.

Although various estimates have been made as to the number of men to be mobilized, the units of United States fighting forces to a formidable size so as to meet with the purpose of the scheme, this has not been based on definite knowledge. However, with the national guards and the regular army assembled under one command it will be possible to get the facts more exact and with more reliability.

The training the militia will receive as a result of the order is another feature of much consequence. During the time they are assembled on the Mexican border they will be subject to conditions existing in war which should be many times the value of the annual summer camp drill by this body.

CONTROL

What is the heart, the soul, the life of the Republic in campaign?

They have a barrel of money. They have been pumping "publicity" far and wide through the land for months. Their agents have been in every state in the Union rubbing up the "organization" and, with promises of liberal campaign picks and of larger rewards later, endeavoring to close the breach between the Old Guard and the Progressives. This sort of union work runs into money—big money.

They have money. But they have no issues and no representative candidate. Except possibly as to the tariff—and they are not all agreed about that—they do not propose to undo any of the greater domestic achievements of the Wilson administration and its supporting Democratic congress. Upon the issue of the "preparedness" as to the degree of military and naval expansion that is desirable and the methods to be pursued in securing it—they are as apart as the poles among themselves. Of their candidates, not only represents them and it appears, is a logical consequence of this situation, that they have turned to a candidate who they think may represent them because nobody knows what he thinks.

What, then, is the mainspring of the costly enterprise? The office? To an extent, perhaps. But there is a mighty little of the wherewithal to grease and energize a political machine to be had of office-seekers. They are merely an inevitable incident, bare as a bone financially, the veriest child in politics knows this. Again, then, what is the secret key-stone?

Just this—CONTROL. Control of the federal reserve board, control of the federal trade commission, control of the department of justice, control of the U. S. treasury, control of the post office (i. e., the parcel post), control of the White House. Here is the prize that they want, and those behind them, are fighting and putting up for.

And why do they seek control? Simply in order that these great mechanisms of public service, especially those created by the Wilson administration, shall not be operated in the public interest. They dare not demand the repeal of the federal reserve act, hence they want to control its administration. They fear to propose the elimination of the federal trade commission, hence the game is to give it into reactionary hands. If the express companies had the postmaster general, what sort of ham-stringing regulations would soon cripple the parcel post? CONTROL IS THE WHOLE STORY.

BRYAN, TRUE DEMOCRAT

One important result of the Democratic convention that should not be overlooked is the emphatic stand taken by Commander Bryan. It shows that there is nothing little about this man who for years has been one of the pillars of the party. He declared that he was in favor of the Democratic platform and would raise the stump to aid in the election of President Wilson.

This latter statement shows that there was no prejudice or personal feeling between him and the head of the United States government when he asked that his resignation as secretary of state be accepted. Although he resented at a time when diplomatic relations between Germany and America were strained to a breaking point and subsequently placed President Wilson in an embarrassing position he has shown the action was due to no ulterior motive but rather because of his utmost desire for peace.

In 20 months of the new Democratic tariff, ending March 31, 1916, the balance of trade in favor of the United States in its world commerce exceeds $2,936,000,000, as compared with less than half that, or $1,030,000,000 during the last 20 months of the Republican tariff. Who wants to abolish this career of prosperity by a return to old conditions?

Total exports of manufacturers not including foodstuffs, during 20 months of war reach $2,850,000,000 of which only one-eighth consisted of explosives and fire-arms. Stock market editors are inclined to overlook the fact that one-eighth is smaller than seven-eighths.

NEW MOVIELAND

By DAISY DEAN

THE BARA'S next appearance in the movies will be in a revival of the famous stage favorite, "East Lynne." The old drama of English country life is enacted by an all-star cast in support of Miss Bara, including Elsie Whitney, Stuart Holmes, the charming movie villain and other actors and actresses of sound reputations on stage and screen.

In writing the scenario from the novel "East Lynne" and the play "East Lynne," Miss Mary Murdock retains in its picture form all the dramatic and literary force, but increases the scope of the story along lines only possible in moving pictures. The picture is directed by Victor Sjöström, who directs the picture in a most artistic and selected scenery true to the old-fashioned spots in the country, the buildings and gardens, and quite like those of first England, and the interior scenes are the genuine old English antique furniture, which lend a color unusually correct.

CRANE WILBUR IN DETECTIVE STORY

"The Haunting Symphony," of the nature of a detective drama, is being filmed by Robert Macdonald from a story by Crane Wilbur. Mr. Wilbur appears in the part of a doctor, a guardian of two children who have been left considerable wealth. The guardian hopes to induce the girl to become his wife, but falling in this commits murder, at a time when a man who has been blinded by a chemical explosion enters the home, thinking it his home. The blind man hears a scream and a shot when near a table. He clutches a photograph his hand has fallen on and leaves the building. When he recovers his sight he attempts to unravel the mystery because of the beauty of the girl as shown in the photograph. This he accomplishes by a peculiar strain of a musical number. Besides Mr. Wilbur, the principals of this are May Gaston, John Oaker, Jessie Burnett and Lloyd Holton.

A Metro company of players, headed by Harold Lockwood and May Allison, are at the Thousand Islands, making exteriors for their next production, "One Cylinder Sam."

HEALTHHINTS

MUCH TO BE OBSERVED IN CARE OF EYE

The care of the eye should commence at birth and continue until death. A big proportion of the inmates of asylums for the blind are there because their eyes were not given the proper attention at birth.

After birth an inflammation of the infant's eyes may occur unless parents and nurses strictly follow the advice of a physician.

Danger of Blindness.

If a physician has not been in attendance when the child was born, one should be called especially to look after the infant's eyes. Otherwise there is great danger of blindness.

Mothers always should see that the baby's eyes are kept clean by bathing them frequently in warm water. If the lashes sometimes seem scaly the greasing of the edges of the lids with a little vaseline will prove beneficial.

The attention of an infant should not be directed to objects held up close to the face, for if done frequently it is apt to cause cross-eyes. The same rule should be observed with older children.

Strains the Eyes.

Children should be discouraged from playing with small objects and toys and from poring over story and picture books for too long a period at a time, as it is a strain on the eyes.

Instead they should be encouraged in out-door amusements and sports, where the eyes during these developing periods of life, can have wide range and free scope.

FRENCH ARMY AT VERDUN HAS GREAT BASE OF SUPPLIES

Steady Stream of Transports, Motors and Teams on the Road.

A. P. Correspondent Sees Working of Mighty War Machine.

HEADQUARTERS, TENTH ARMY CORPS, AT THE FRONT, FRANCE, June 18.—General Antoine, commander of the Tenth Army Corps, was seen by a military correspondent at his headquarters when M. Painleve, a member of the French cabinet, was announced. General de Castelnau, commanding the western front, had invited the minister to visit the several corps headquarters near Verdun, and had authorized the representative of the Associated Press to accompany the minister. Two of General de Castelnau's personal staff, Major Camet and Lieutenant Lagouette, acted as escorts to the party, and in the midst of several hundred kilometers three army corps headquarters were visited: the Tenth Army Corps under General Antoine, the Fifth Army Corps under General Heilmann, and the Third Army Corps under General Humbert.

It was the first day of this trip of inspection, made under most favorable auspices, designed to show the cabinet officer the exact condition of affairs on the fighting line—the offensive and defensive organization, the morale of the men, the condition of supplies and equipment, the trench warfare and the actual fighting on the front. M. Painleve, besides being a member of the cabinet, had taken a leading part in the debates of the Chamber of Deputies on questions relating to the military campaign, and this was to let him see at first hand just how that campaign was being conducted.

The commander of the Fifth Army Corps and the Cabinet officers exchanged cordial greetings. General Antoine is a man of commanding presence, tall and athletic, a little beyond middle age, with bronzed face and iron gray hair and moustache. He was in light-blue service uniform, with high boots and spurs, the three stars on the sleeve indicating his high rank. Here in his headquarters the surroundings were plain to the point of bareness. The room was small and the floor bare. A rough pine table was in the middle, with a detailed map stretched out, over which General Antoine had been studying. Other maps and photographs of sectors, trenches and various divisions of the works, were on the wall, and these, with a few pine chairs, made up the furnishings of the corps headquarters which is pushing forward the supplies to Verdun and the fighting front.

M. Painleve was much interested in the large charts showing in detail the layout of the fighting and reserve forces, and General Antoine, standing before the chart, pointed out the main points—Verdun off to the right, then the army corps massed to the west, and then General Antoine's corps doing the work of preparation and forwarding, as well as guarding a considerable sector of the front.

"The photographs show the field better," said the general, leading the way to a large room adjoining. A score of officers were at work here, sorting photographs, developing them, and fitting them together into huge panoramic views showing every road and trench and tree. These photographs were taken from the clouds, by aviators, and now and then the aviators came in with the negatives just taken of their section. The whole war-zone was laid out in small squares, the aviators minutely photographing each square, and then the squares were fitted together like a jig-saw puzzle, making a complete picture of the whole zone. When the edge of a square was too close to a German battery for the aviator to reach in safety, the photograph was taken by a camera, lashed to a high pole, and held above a trench.

These last, trench pictures, presented a gruesome scene of the havoc and desolation where the batteries were doing the worst work—the ground swept of trees and foliage, littered with debris, and a few twisted trunks extending their distorted arms.

General Antoine now turned outside, and with a group of staff officers led the way through the masses of the vast camp. Such a scene of varied and intense activity! It fairly thrilled as the visitors passed along. Wagons, wagons, wagons, stretching away in unending procession for miles ahead and behind. A great cloud of dust hung over this cavalcade, and the green fields were covered as with frost from the fall of dust. The four-horse teams strained along, keeping the ranks close together. Every conceivable sort of war stores was in this moving train—boxes and barrels and bales of food for men and animals, huge wine casks set on end, two to a wagon; ordnance carts piled high with boxes of shells; lorries with ugly-looking quick-fire guns, and vans loaded with coils of barbed wire and with sharp-pointed stakes used in the trenches and chevaux-de-frise.

"And this goes on night and day," said Major Camet. "Yes, it is busiest at night near the front, for the moving is dangerous in the daytime, so that the last lap, near the fighting line, starts at dusk and goes steadily through the night."

And besides the activity of the highway, the fields alongside were equally busy. Here a cavalry camp was posted, and horses were tethered, not by hundreds, but by thousands. At one side a spur of railroad had been run to a camp depot, and here the freight cars were unloading supplies and the army vans were carrying them forward. Soldiers and camp followers and peasants were working at their innumerable occupations. One of these groups, massed at a crossroad, looked like a market-scene in Jerusalem, with all races and languages—Africans from Algiers and mongrel hordes from the borders of Tunis and Morocco, Senegalese as black as coal, and yellow-faced Annamites; most of these French colonialists in fat and square outfit, along with the French police in their gray-blue uniforms, scolded and grimed, and steel casques; and French territorialists in the old-time red and blue uniform with baggy trousers.

The most striking thing in this great field of activity was the regularity with which it was all going on, suggesting a perfection and sureness of organization. There was no confusion, and this tremendous machinery of warfare was running with the precision and smoothness of the delicate works of a watch.

General Antoine and Minister Painleve now turned off to the living quarters. The big barracks stretched for half a mile ahead—substantial temporary one-story structures of corrugated iron with an inner double sheathing of heavy paper felt. There was a blast of bugles and a rattle of drums, saluting the commanding general and the minister. And as the sharp notes sounded hundreds of French soldiers—the poilus—who were camped along the route, chatting in groups, sitting at rough benches, and doing their hundreds of little camp duties, sprang to attention and stood there like statues as the general passed by. Those with guns brought the piece sharply to present arms, while most of the poilus, taken unawares in their rough-and-ready garb, were without arms and saluted with the right hand at the cap.

It was a striking scene, these poilus standing rigid, not in regular array, but scattered and massed for half a mile along a dusty battle-route, some on the road, others on the rising slopes, with their commanding officer passing among them. The general paused as we neared one group of 20 grimy soldiers ranged beside a field-kitchen, the ovens smoking and giving off an odor of soldier rations.

"Are the men content with the food?" asked the general, halting and addressing by name one of the poilus.

"Yes, my general," answered the poilu, his face beaming.

"And the rice, do the men like it?" queried the general.

"No, my general, they will not eat it."

The poilu was very definite in condemning the rice portion of the ration, and had no hesitation in expressing this disapproval to the general. General Antoine asked many other questions as to the food, and was answered in the same frank and smiling way.

This was a typical encounter between the commanding general of an army corps and a plain French poilu, and it showed the inherent democracy of the French army, the real comradeship between officers and men. Here was a corps commander addressing a private soldier familiarly by name, and knowing the name of this one man in 40,000 encountered by hazard, for they say General Antoine knows every man by name in his corps.

Entering the barracks, the poilus were ranged at attention alongside their long lines of bunks. Everything was spot and span: floors clean, bedclothes piled neatly, mattresses sunning in the windows. There was the same orderly arrangement in the huge eating quarters, kitchens and elsewhere. Outside the barracks, on the sloping terrace, the poilus had planted artistic flower beds, with huge letters in flowers spelling Joffre, Castelnau, Antoine and the other commanders. A huge stock of shells rose among these flowers, and the poilus had stood some of these monster shells on end with a bunch of flowers and a French flag in the nose of the projectiles.

General Antoine took a personal interest in the "depot d'eclopes," as it is called—an extensive organization run by slightly wounded men. General Antoine originated the idea and it has spread all through the army, these depots back of the front doing scores of helpful little duties for the men on the firing line. Here there was an immense laundry turning out a wash of 10,000 pieces.

"It helps the man in the trench to have a clean shirt," said General Antoine, as he showed the stocks of dannel shirts about to be returned to the men in front.

There were kitchen gardens for fresh vegetables, forges for mending trench tools, armories for cleaning guns, a candle factory, and innumerable other activities, all run by soldiers who had lost a finger or the edge of an ear, or had some other slight wound temporarily incapacitating them.

At night the party became General Antoine's guests at the extensive private residence, requisitioned for army purposes, alongside headquarters. It was evidently the home of a well-conditioned family, with spacious corridors lined with sculpture and paintings. The dinner was cooked and served by soldiers, and even the menu-card was a work of art done by a noted French cartoonist now serving as a soldier in the ranks.

The American expedition to Mexico came up for discussion as the party were leaving, and General Antoine said:

"The experience of your army shows that cavalry is still an essential part of army organization. With our trench warfare the idea got about that mounted troops were a thing of the past."

CANADA'S LOSS BIG AT YPRES FIGHTING

Thirty-Seven Officers Are Reported Lost in Latest Casualty List.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 18.—Thirty-seven Canadian officers are mentioned in a casualty list received here by cable today. The total loss of officers killed, wounded and missing reported since heavy fighting began June 2 now totals 395. Every section of Canada has been touched by the losses in the Ypres salient fighting, of which domination forces have borne the brunt.

Fifteen hundred yards of Canadian front trench line at Hooge, taken by the Germans on June 6, were retaken by the Canadians on June 13, says the Canadian "eye witness" in a dispatch to the ministry of military made public today. As a result of this fighting, twenty-nine officers and men of the overseas regiments have been decorated.

The report says after a violent bombardment by the Germans, aided by four mine explosions which virtually obliterated the advance Canadian trenches held by the eighth northwestern, the German infantry carried these positions.

In the action Lance Corporal Roy A. Edmonds specially distinguished himself when a sixty-pound German mortar shell fell into his trench. Edmonds picked up the shell and pushed it over the trench parapet, where it exploded a moment later.

Until June 13 the fighting was confined to artillery, but on that day the Canadian artillery, concentrating on the positions captured by the Germans, made it possible for the Canadian infantry to attack. On the left of the line, the western Ontario battalion bombed its way right up to the original line, while two Canadian Scottish battalions and a Toronto battalion "in a magnificent" charge successfully captured their former positions on high grounds known as Mount Sorrel and Observatory Ridge.

B. W. C. FILMS ARE ABOUT BEST EVER

Scenes Taken in Lima With Home Characters Are First Class.

Crowds filled the Lyric theatre this afternoon to see the moving pictures of the romance, enacted in Lima last week, being put on for the benefit of the Business Woman's club gymnasium fund. There has been a wonderful sale of tickets and it is expected the theatre will be filled every hour the films are shown. The pictures will be given tonight, Tuesday, afternoon and evening and Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Berda Ewing Fritz takes the part of leading woman and Oscar Wahl is leading man. The whole was worked out in a pretty love story, the principals meeting at a garden party at the Deleah home on South Cole street, where fashionable Lima society is gathered.

Scenes at the home of B. A. Gramam on South Cole street, used as the residence of the leading woman, were included. The plot reached a climax in a big wedding at the German Reformed church. The play is in three scenes.

Miss Oread Wetherill appears in a scene, Miss Mildred Rudy is shown in the comedy part, Burt McClanish of Van Wert, takes the part of father and Mrs. M. M. Keltner, of mother. Carl Lange, of Delphos, is cast in the role of the villain and does his best to upset the plans of the lovers.

The story is interestingly told and there is not one person in Lima who will wish to see the romance, portrayed on the screen at the Lyric.

YOUNG MAN, THINK, HEED, PASTOR SAYS

BUFFALO, June 19.—Here are ten commandments for the guidance of prospective bridegrooms given by Rev. Robert J. MacAlpine of the Central Presbyterian church, in a sermon here:

Don't bank on mere beauty; it is unreliable as the weather.

Don't marry for talent, popularity or wealth. Without love these would be as insipid as an egg without salt.

Don't let sentiment rule you. Like a flower, it is apt to fade before tomorrow.

Don't marry a woman whose stock of common sense is no greater than her dollars and cents. As no amount of the latter can buy the least amount of the former, you would likely soon be a hopeless insolvent.

Don't propose to a young woman whose tongue isn't silent during the sermon. She has sermons in store for you.

Don't marry a girl who thinks more of a good time than a good name. Your good time would very probably never arrive.

Don't choose a young woman who is more concerned about how she looks than how she acts. One is what she appears to be, the other is what she is.

Don't marry your opposite in religion. Your religion is likely to outlive your love.

Don't marry till your heart and hand are as clean as those you have won. Black and white mixed makes both a dull gray.

Don't marry in haste. For the sake of at least two lives, keep in mind the modern key-words: "Safety first" and "preparedness".

BIG ORDER FROM FRANCE.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 19.—The French government has placed an order with the Pressed Steel Car Company for 100,000 steel forgings for 9.2 inch shells at a cost of $225 each, according to an announcement just made here.

SANDUSKY—Insomnia on the part of Ex-councilman Carl Wilke saved his confectionery store from being destroyed by fire. Recently Wilke awakened at 2 a. m., found he was unable to resume his slumbers. He dressed and walked to his store a mile away. There he found the place filled with smoke. The fire department was called and the blaze extinguished before any damage was done.

MARION—Loring Curtis Webster, retired Methodist Episcopal minister who died recently, left personality of $12,000. He also held valuable property at Kenton, Delaware and Toledo. He was the father of Holland O. Webster, of Toledo, former prosecuting attorney of Lucas county, and at one time a candidate on the progressive ticket for congress.

MARYSVILLE—John Tauber of Plain City, this county, has invented a machine which he says will manufacture fabric which closely resembles natural fur. He has made arrangements to give the machine a demonstration before interested parties soon.

BELLEVILLE—Squirrels are killing chickens, throttling them as rats sometimes do, in this vicinity, according to Dr. J. F. Haas who says that many farmers have reported finding chickens dead following raids by squirrels.

FREMONT—Stanley Mliniski, in police court, solemnly kissed his wife's hand and swore never to take another drink. It saved him from serving a sentence in the Toledo workhouse which Mayor Kinney has just imposed. The sentenced was suspended.

AMUSEMENTS

Mac Murray in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs", at the Faurot.

THE FAUROT PICTURES.

The new Lasky production on the Paramount program at the Faurot, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," with beautiful Mac Murray in the title role, is receiving most enthusiastic praise from the patrons of that theatre.

With its flavor of old-world romance and tender sentiment, its courtly gallants, fair ladies, odd graces and affections of the eighteenth century wrought into a fascinating love tale, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" brings to the screen a feature that touches the high-water mark of polished film drama.

In a previous Lasky costume play "To Have and to Hold"—Mac Murray adorned the role of a graceful and beautiful heroine. On that occasion she registered a pronounced success, but it is not robbing her performance on that occasion of credit due to say that in the present instance she achieves even better results. The character of "Sweet Kitty," winsome, mischievous, an incorrigible flirt, yet loyal to friends and lover, is more suited to her fetching personality.

Her love-making with the bashful Verney is the very essence of witchery, and the lightning-like change to a pretty transport of rage when she sees herself about to be thwarted by the opposition of the lieutenant's relatives is but one instance of many during the performance that marks her versatility. The flashing sallies of wit with which Kitty delighted her admirers and discomfited her enemies in the stage version, are necessarily lacking in the film, but this is largely made up by the excellent pantomime offered in the acting of the leading lady.

Tom Forman as the bashful but lovable Verney carries his ultra modesty to such a degree that at times he becomes actually exasperating, and awakens a desire in the breast of the average spectator to kick him vigorously for not responding more readily to his dainty sweetheart's advances. And this, too, is good art, which proves that Mr. Forman enters with extreme thoroughness into the spirit of the role in which he is cast. Space does permit of a detailed account of the able manner in which the remaining members of the company acquit themselves, but it can be said that their work is fully up to the standard set by the principals.

There are no dull moments in the play, which is capably directed by James Young. The costumes are rich, and remarkable for historical accuracy in every detail. Photography of the highest grade is in evidence, the settings are excellent, and the exterior scenes artistically filmed. The picture will take place among the best productions of romantic screen drama.

Added features to the bill include a new Bray cartoon comedy, "Miss Nanny Goat on the Rampage" and Dittmar's rare animal studies. Last time tonight.

STAR THEATRE.

The change of program at the Star today brings to that theatre a two-reel Gold Seal drama, "The False Start," as the principal feature. The leading roles are acted by Herbert Rawlinson and Agnes Vernon. Other new pictures are "Wanted, a Husband," which enlists the expert fun making of Neal Burns, Betty Compton and Ethel Lynn, and "The Grip of Crime," a Big U drama with Thomas Jefferson and Zoe Bach at the head of the cast.

THIS WAR'S COST SMASHES RECORDS

Requires More Money Than All Former Struggles Waged in Europe.

PARIS, June 19.—Wars cost Europe from the beginning of the nineteenth century up to August, 1914, about 65,000,000,000 francs, or not half of what the belligerent powers have already expended during the present conflict, according to statistics compiled by Edmond Thery, the French economist, and published in an article written to indicate the progression of the cost of war.

The 15 years of war waged by Napoleon increased the public debt of France by 588,000,000 francs, while the Crimean war alone cost the republic 1,660,000,000, according to Thery. Great Britain spent 1,550,000,000 in the Crimean, while that war cost Austria 343,000,000 and Turkey and Sardinia together 642,000,000 francs.

France spent 650,000,000 francs on the Mexican war, he says, and 853,000,000 in the conflict against Austria for the liberation of Italy.

Prussia in her wars against Denmark and Austria spent about 2,000,000,000 francs, while the German states and France together spent about 15,000,000,000 on the war of 1870, including 5,000,000,000 francs indemnity paid by France to Germany.

The war of 1877-78 against Turkey cost Russia about 2,700,000,000 francs, while she spent 6,000,000,000 francs in the war with Japan as against 4,500,000,000 spent by Japan.

FRENCH FISH FLEET KEEPS OLD CUSTOM

"Blessing of the Catch" is Solemn Rite on the Coast.

PARIS, June 19.—The ceremony of "the blessing of the catch" that precedes each spring the departure of the French cod-fish fleets for the waters and the banks of Newfoundland, has lost none of its interest or picturesque quality, though the fleets are considerably diminished, on account of the war.

The fleets of Fecamp, Paimpol, Saint Malo, Cancale, Saint Servan, and Granville, altogether are sending out about 100 vessels this year as against 300 that composed the combined fleets before the war. The steam trawlers were nearly all requisitioned by the government, and a great many members of the crews were mobilized. This year 3,000 of these mobilized men have been given leave from the army in order to prevent the cod-fishing industry from declining to the point of disaster. The war has shown France the importance of her fisheries, and already ways and means of improving their facilities after the war are being discussed.

While the cod catch will be greatly inferior to the average again this year, there will be plenty of Cancale oysters, for the women have replaced the mobilized men in the important annual catch of seed oysters off the Breton coast. It is really a man's work, for the barks are heavy and the straits are neither light nor easily manœuvred. But the women handle them with as much skill as courage and the season's catch of oysters to be taken shoreward for breeding purposes will not fall far short of the average season.

New York Wins From Indians By Onesided Score

Cleveland, O., June 19.—Because of a crippled pitching staff, Morton and Kieffer being unable, Cleveland was forced to rely on second-string players here yesterday, and New York scored at will, winning 19 to 3 and scoring in every inning except the eighth.

Cumbe lasted but one-third of an inning, while Mitchell was knocked out in the second. McHale came next. Following him was Gunkel, the University of Illinois recruit. Loudermilk, who finished, was the only one to retire New York scoreless in an inning.

Cullop retired when New York was leading, 16 to 1. The score: Cleveland AB. H. P. O. A. E. Fort Wayne Club Loses By Large Score To Locos

The Lima Independents completely outclassed the Fort Wayne club yesterday, in the game at Murphy street park. The locals showed superior talent in every department of the game and won out by a score of 13 to 2. The contest was staged before a crowd of 1,500 persons.

Owing to the good sized lead obtained by the locals, Pitcher Carroll ceased up and allowed the visitors to score their only runs of the game in the sixth inning. However, the Independents counted in every inning except the fifth, sixth and ninth.

The Lima lads stole everything in sight but the diamond during the contest. In addition to the numerous single steals, two double plays were pulled off by them. Reynolds lead with three thefts to his credit. Herring led in stuck work, with three hits out of four times at bat. Reynolds was a close second with three out of five times.

The Independents started their scoring in the first inning by counting two tallies, on a base on balls and two hits, one a triple by Reynolds. They continued the good work in the second by annexing three more runs by three hits and a double steal pulled off by McConnell and Carroll. They counted two more in each the third and fourth innings in the latter inning Long and Malloy worked the double steal, and the former stole home.

The big innings for Lima was the seventh, when they scored four runs with the aid of a base on balls and three hits. Reynolds in this inning stole second, third and home. Weberuss was yanked at the close of the fifth inning and Blauvelt finished the game. Score

De Palma Defeated By Resta

SPEEDWAY, CHICAGO, June 19.

Dario Resta clinched his title as American speedway champion when he defeated Ralph de Palma in two straight heats, one of 50 miles and the other of 24 miles, at Speedway park yesterday afternoon. Incidentally, Resta broke the 50-mile American Speedway record, during the distance in 31.57 2-5. This is at the rate of 94 miles an hour, as against Christaen's time at Indianapolis last year he drove an Excelsior in 33.55.32 at 87 miles per hour speed. De Palma's time was 32:18, or 93 miles an hour.

De Palma again had spark trouble but so did Resta, who was the first into the pit; then De Palma gained a whole lap only to lose it when he had to go to the pit. Then Resta not only took the lead, but won the race.

MARKETS

WALL ST. AFFECTED
BY MEXICAN TROUBLE

NEW YORK, June 19.—Liquidation became more general with a decided increase of activity in the second hour, after futile attempts to check the decline. Mexicans continued as the weakest feature, but standard rails, representative industrials and the less speculative specialties yielded easily under the heavy weight of offerings. The short interest, which at first approached the market tentatively, also contributed materially to the weakening tendency. Shipping shares, which had shown some early strength, fell away with other leading issues. Extreme nervousness prevailed at midday. Bonds were irregular.

The critical state of the Mexican situation of which Wall street had a foreboding last Saturday was the cause of further recessions at the opening of today's market. All classes of securities ranged at lower levels, with weakness in Mexican Petroleum, Southern Pacific and U. S. Smelting where losses extended from 1 1/4 to 3 1/4 points. Copper, Crucible Steel, Best Sugar, Marine preferred and Industrial Alcohol also inclined to heaviness. Prominent rails yielded from fractions to a full point. Supporting orders soon effected substantial rallies in some of the more active issues but the undercurrent remained feverish.

WHEAT SOARS WHEN WAR NEWS GROWS

CHICAGO, June 19.—War moves in regard to Mexico quickly brought about higher prices today for breadstuffs. Wheat was the first staple to rise in value. Considerable excitement was manifested at the opening of business.

Initial prices, which ranged from unchanged figures to 1 1/2 higher, with July at $1.00 3/4 to 1.01 1/4 and September at $1.03 to 1.04 1/4, were followed by a substantial general advance.

Corn turned upward with wheat. The principal feature was the scarcity of sellers. After opening 1-3/4 to 1-1/2 off, to a like advance, prices scored material gains all around. Early weakness in oats disappeared in view of the strength of other grain. Net advances, however, were slight.

Provisions were dominated at first by lower prices on hogs. Later, though, the Mexican situation and the rise in cereals led to a rally. Wheat quotations closed strong, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher with July $1.02 1/2 and September at $1.04 1/4.

The corn close was firm at 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher. The close was: Wheat, July $1.02 1/2; September $1.04 1/4. Corn, July 73 1/4; September 71. Oats, July 39 1/4; September 38 1/4. Pork, July $22.55; September $23.30. Lard, July $13.02; September $13.15. Ribs, July $13.60; September $13.70.

TRANSACTIONS ARE GREATER THAN EVERLun's Review Finds Skilled Hands Scarce in the Labor Market.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Dun's Review in its latest issue has this to say regarding trade conditions: In certain leading branches of trade new demands have slackened perceptibly and prices are easier. Yet this is the normal period for a lull in the lines affected, and there is now all the more reason for it because of the previous extraordinary activity. Requirements in many instances are covered far ahead and buyers are naturally disposed to proceed more slowly, while signs multiply that the element of cost is no longer a matter of secondary consideration with consumers. The fact remains, however, that in the aggregate, transactions are greater than in any other year and the problem of manufacturers is not one of securing new orders, but of finding sufficient men and materials with which to do all the work there is to be done. The labor situation is less disturbing, yet there is much complaint of the shortage of skilled hands and production in some industries is hampered at a time when deliveries are backward. While railroad embargoes continue effective, traffic conditions have improved, as indicated by the larger surplus of idle cars, and the sharp reductions in ocean freights act as a stimulus to overseas shipping. Further augmentation of export trade is foreshadowed by the granting of a new credit to Russia and the merchandise balance in favor of this country is so colossal that importations of $50,000,000 gold fail to strengthen sterling exchange. The position of business, in spite of the backward season, with its adverse effect on the crops and retail distribution, was never stronger, the increased conservatism in buying and the yielding tendencies in prices having a wholesome bearing on the future. Bank clearings still largely exceed those of last year and traffic movements continue heavy, gross earnings of railroads reporting for the first week of June gaining 14.2 per cent.

PRODIGAL, NOT FATTED CALF, IS ALMOST KILLED

Comes Back to Find Wife
With Ready Hands;
Flatiron in One.

Smile and Bunch of Violets
Has No Effect Upon Obdurate Spouse.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Karl Klotz saw his wife last Thursday for the first time in two months. From a friend he learned that after he had faded from home without so much as an intimation that he was going she had gone to live with Mrs. Feinberg, at 2170 Amsterdam avenue. But Klotz had tired of the "open road," and longed for home. As a peace offering he purchased a bunch of violets. With a stout heart and a smile on his broad face Klotz mounted the stairs leading to the Feinbergs flat and bravely knocked three on the door.

"Lo, Elizabeth," he said, nonchalantly. "How's your health, eh?"

Finds Wife Unforgiving.

Mrs. Klotz glared at the newcomer, then started, then frowned. She was ironing the weekly wash, calling on all her available reserve, she placed the flatiron where it would do no harm and pointed a finger toward the door.

"Out!" she shouted.

"Aw, Lizzie," pleaded Karl, "have a heart. Here's some violets I bought for you."

"Out!" commanded Mrs. Klotz again. "If you don't—if you don't—" Mrs. Klotz gazed suggestively at the flatiron. Karl softly shut the door behind him. Once safely on the sidewalk he began to cogitate on the best means to restore the affections of his wife unto himself. Ah, he had it. Women liked candy. He would buy a large two pound box, with a big red ribbon tied about it, and call again the next day—Friday.

Then Comes the Smushup.

Klotz called, "Lizzie, he said, "I been mighty lonesome without you. Give a teller another chance, won't you? Aw, come on, be a sport."

"I told you to stay away, didn't I?" Mrs. Klotz cried. "If you come around again you'll go to Blackwell's you will."

"Say, Lizzie, I'll behave," coaxed Karl. Mrs. Klotz shoved him out through the entrance and down part of the stairs. In the window of a drug store he saw a small square camera. Figuring his worldly wealth, he found he had just enough to cover the price.

"See what I brought you," he lisped, opening the door of his wife's home just a few inches.

"Come in, Karl," returned Mrs. Klotz. Karl's heart bounded high. Here was forgiveness at last. Mrs. Klotz took the camera from his outstretched hand, retired to a corner and took careful aim.

Police End the Session.

When Klotz felt better physically he returned with a dress.

"You wouldn't support me when we lived together," Mrs. Klotz shouted. "You're a good for nothing, a nobody that never was and never will be—a tramp. Help, help, police!"

Patrolman Lilly came in time to stop Klotz in the midst of a torrent of abuse directed at his wife. At the West One Hundred and Fifty second street station Mrs. Klotz said that after the death of her child her husband refused to support her and shortly after disappeared.
